JJS/DCO Energy Safety Director Accepts Safety Award for 4th Consecutive Year

LAWRENCEVILLE, NJ--(Marketwire - October 12, 2010) - Joseph Jingoli & Son (JJS) is proud to announce that the company has been awarded the Utility and Transportation Contractor Association of New Jersey's Construction Safety Award for the 4th consecutive year.

The award is based on the firm's excellent record in construction safety. Earlier this year, Joseph Jingoli and Son received a Citation of Merit from the New Jersey State Industrial Safety Committee for achievement in the prevention of occupational injuries during 2009.

"At Joseph Jingoli and Son, Safety First isn't simply a tagline, it is truly the foundation on which this company has been built," said co-owner and CFO Michael Jingoli.

Joseph Jingoli and Son is an industry leader when it comes to safety, having consistently had one of the lowest EMR rankings (Experience Modification Ratings) in the State of New Jersey, and one of the lowest EMR rankings for similar sized firms throughout the US. The EMR is universally recognized as leading safety ranking in the industry.

"Year in and year out, the entire JJS team works tirelessly to ensure that every person on every job works safe and stays safe," said Robert Reager, President of JJS. "I would like to congratulate the entire team, and the JJS/DCO Director of Safety, Bobby McGee, for this recognition."
